

SMC

SMC is a new compound specially developed for sink production. It is made from a mixture of Polyester, minerals and glass fibres creating a highly flexible material that can be moulded in to crisp detailed shapes. The manufacturing process includes the application of a protective coating (PIMC) which provides the sink with a high resistance to damage.

SMC Specifications

Scratch resistant - Although these sinks are not scratch proof, they are highly resistant to scrapes from cutlery etc.

Impact resistant - SMC is very resilient and will withstand the usual knocks and bangs from pots and pans.

Heat resistant - SMC will withstand temperatures up to 140°C. It is not recommended however to put pots directly from the stove on to the sink surface.

Carbonate

The Chorus and Tempo are Carbonate sinks made out of an advanced form of Polypropylene specially formulated for the sink industry. Carbonate has been used for making sinks for the last ten years and has proved to be a reliable material for budget priced sinks.

Quartz

The Aria sinks are made from Quartz (formerly Asterite) which is a unique blend of natural silica particles and toughened acrylic resins creating an extremely durable material.

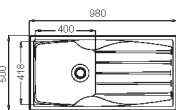

Chorus

CARBONATE

An elegant sink at a budget price, the Chorus is available in two colours.

It is supplied with a standard 90mm strainer waste and a matching colander (on the 1.5 bowl version only).
